Compliance Management through Distributorships & Brokerages

Gaining Supply Chain Transparency

Today's Learning Objectives...

Gaining Supply Chain Transparency through Distributorships & Brokerages

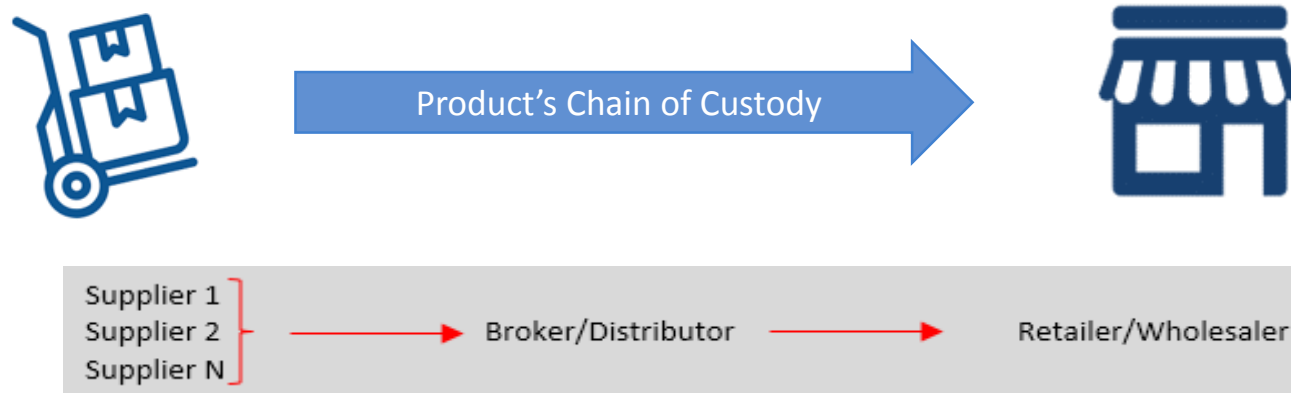

- How your role in the supply chain affects providing compliance documents
- Outline steps brokers or distributors take to obtain and provide required compliance documents
- Demonstrate how a customer can obtain compliance documents from suppliers who use distributors or brokers

Our Philosophy

Chain of Custody

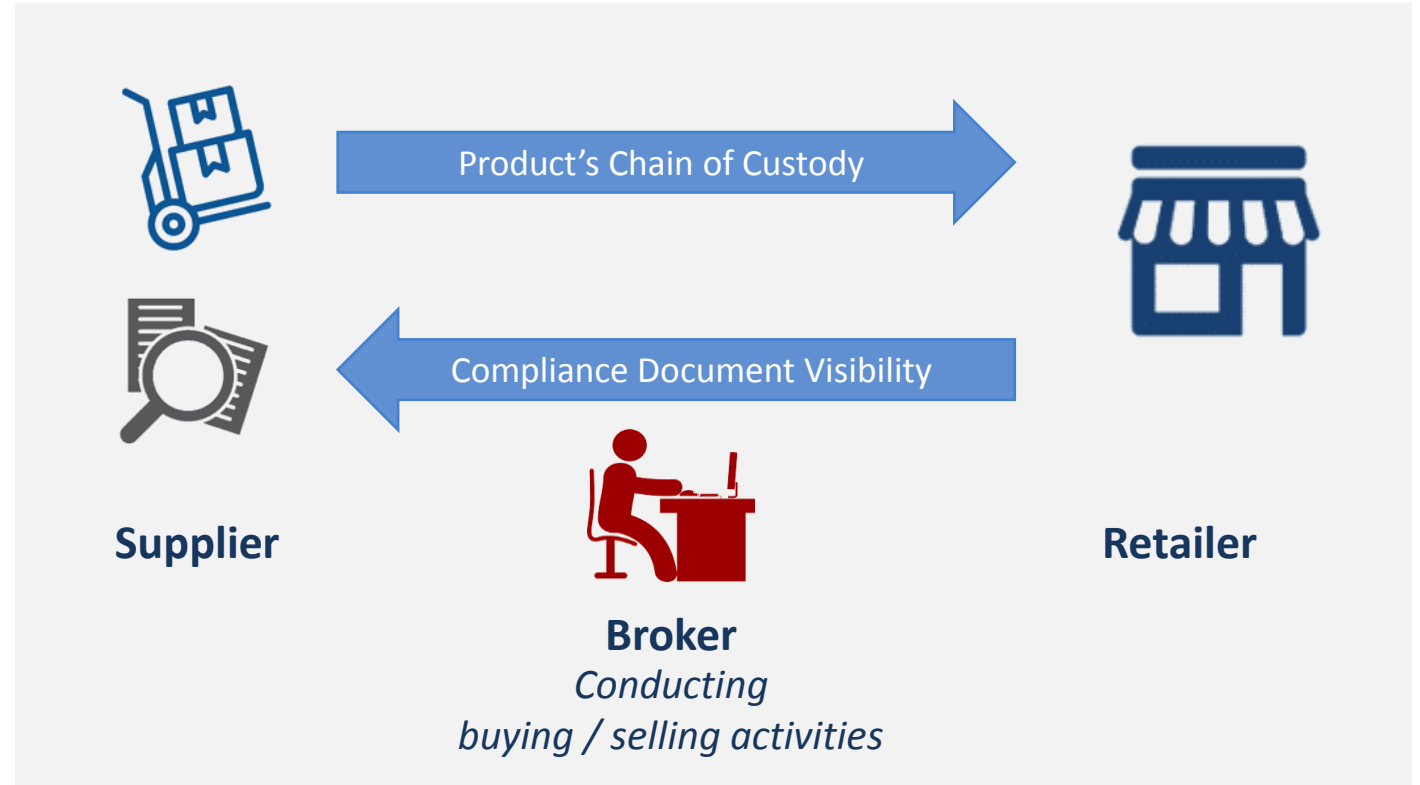

- Compliance is all about the chain of custody of the information
- A supplier should upload their own required documents, a distributor should not upload supplier documents
- Therefore a supplier must represent themselves

Identify the Role

Do you take ownership of the product or not?

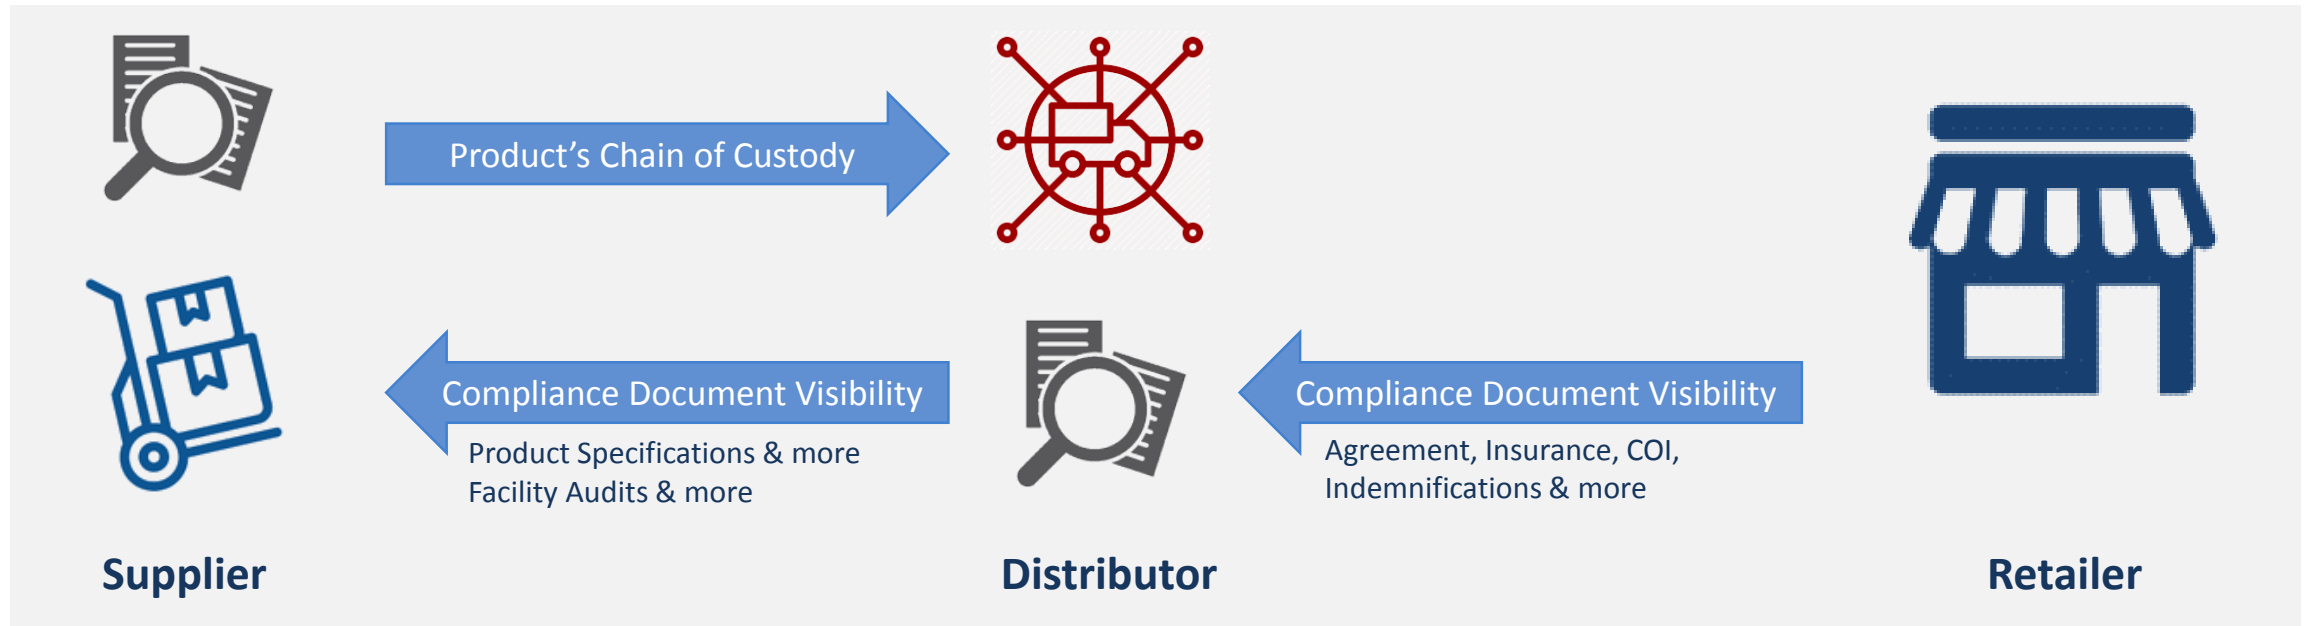

No! I don't take ownership of the product, just conduct buying/selling activities on behalf of my client

Identify the Role

Do you take ownership of the product or not?

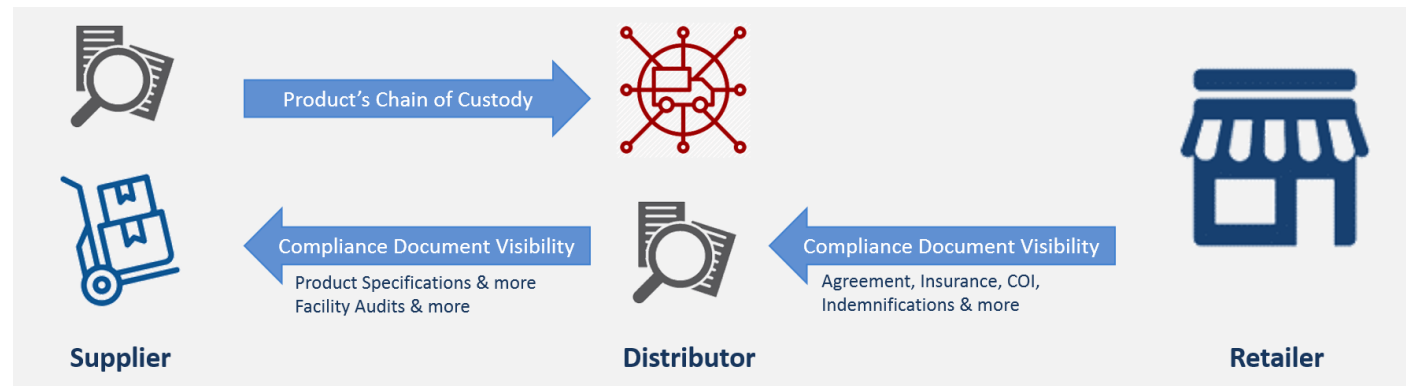

Yes! I take ownership of the product and resell it

Steps to Compliance with your Customer

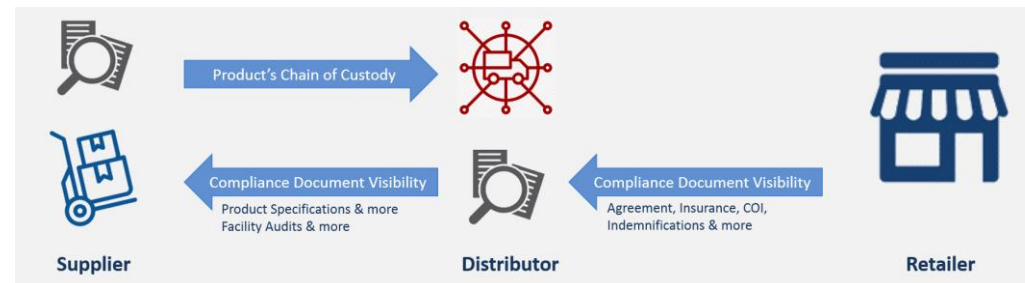

If taking ownership of the product

- Broker/Distributor sets up a ReposiTrak 'pass thru' account (it's free!)
- Confirms/updates supplier contacts
- Generates requests for information to your suppliers
- Authorizes your customer to view your suppliers' documents

How Customer Requests Documents through a Broker or Distributor

1. Customers need to identify brokers/distributors and encourage them to enroll their with their pass thru account
2. ReposiTrak team will setup the pass thru account and enroll the suppliers that the brokers/distributors represents
3. ReposiTrak will grant permissions for the document share
4. Enrolled suppliers may already have many of the requested documents
